The Democratic County Convention.

A Small and Listless Gathering Ratifies the Machine's Platform and Ticket---Blumle and Cummings Named.

The gathering in the court house on Tuesday afternoon, which was recognized as the Democratic county convention presented a marked contrast to the interest and enthusiasm which marked the Republican county convention last April. August weather and other things, seem to be too much even for "the unterrified." County Chairman, I. K. Hockley called the convention to order. In his opening address he tried to improve the face of the situation by explaining that the scant number of delegates to the convention was due to the fact that very few Democratic votes were cast at the last election. We predict that he will have further explanations of the same sort to make next year. W. R. Chatham of Driftwood was chosen as temporary secretary.

The following delegates were present: West Ward—Hogan, Norris, Coyle; East Ward—Lysett. Marshall, Wheaton; Middle Ward—Donovan, Klees, Egan; Portage—McDowell, Evans; Lumber—Smith, Simpson; Gibson—Smith, Mason, Fry; Driftwood—Deny, Chatham; Grove—Smith, Shafer. No credentials were presented from Shippen, but the convention seated John Lawson and A. J. Ingersall. It appears that there has been some sort of a factional fight on in Lumber township, and the convention, in order to save trouble, seated both James Hayes and Ed. McFadden, allowing each of them half a vote. We should not blame them if they should not give more than half a vote to the ticket next November.

T. H. Norris was elected permanent chairman, and Geo. P. Shafer permanent secretary. The first thing in the order of business was the appointment of the committee on resolutions. The chairman named B. Egan, John E. Smith and Lawrence Smith. The order of business next called for an adjournment of ten minutes, ostensibly, we presume, to give this committee an opportunity to get their political ideas together and to clothe the same in appropriate diction. In reality the ten minutes is intended to give the chairman of the committee on resolutions an opportunity, if he desires it, to glance over the machine-made resolutions, prepared by the chairman of the county committee, correcting the grammar and improving the rhetoric when necessary. The committee on resolutions had no mind to be critical on this occasion, and, forgetting that in theory they were supposed to take ten minutes to formulate and write out the platform themselves, they returned almost instantly and in due order of business submitted to the convention what Chairman Hockley had put into their hands. It is to be hoped that the public will not hold the members of the committee on resolutions strictly responsible for this platform. It is Hockley's work, not theirs. Let him have the credit of it.

The report of this committee was not in order until after the nominations had been made. John Lawson nominated F. X. Blumle for Assemblyman. The convention accepted the nomination by acclamation, but without enthusiasm. B. Egan named John Cummings for County Treasurer. M. W. Whiting was named by John E. Smith. A secret ballot resulted in the nomination of Cummings by a vote of 17½ to 7½. The applause which follow the announcement of Cumming's nomination was reasonable in its moderation, nor was it excessive nor long continued, at the close of Cummings brief speech, thanking the convention. Egan presented the report of the committee on resolutions. A great increase in the Democratic vote was promised. Promises are easy to make. Jefferson was patted on the shoulders. Were he living he would permit no such familiar liberties from those who play fast and loose with his cherished principles. Bryan was ignored and no mention was made of Cleveland. Why should these standard bearers be forgotten, now that they are pulling neck to neck on the Parker chariot? The platform condemns Republican militarism, whatever that may mean. It denounces the failure of Roosevelt's administration to disband the organizations known as trusts, but it is silent as to the position of the Democratic justices of the Supreme Court in regard to the Northern Securities case. It declares that the money question is not an issue, but neglects to give thanks that the free silver proposition was voted to death in 1896 and in 1900. Finally the platform pledges support to Parker and his octogenarian running mate and to the state and county tickets.

The convention instructed for C. W. Shaffer for Congress

Part Iron and Part Clay.

The Democratic party can never hope to win the confidence of the nation so long as it attempts to combine within itself such utterly hostile and incongruous elements as are represented in its conservative and radical wings. The party as at present constituted is like the toes of Nebuchadnezzar's image, which were part of potter's clay and part of iron. Cleveland is the iron; Bryan is the clay. A very slight jolt will knock the iron and the clay apart. No one need envy the excellent gentleman who has the misfortune to be the titular leader of this loose-jointed and discordant host.

The Independent is trying to make us think that the fragments of iron and clay are all of one beautiful piece and texture.

A sudden down pour of rain or a long continued drizzle will have no effect on the patrons of Hargreaves' Big Railroad Shows, when it exhibits here on August 12. The reasons for this will be apparent to everyone who sees the huge tents that will be erected here for the performance. They are all constructed of 'mercerized' ducking. This marvelous invention for the waterproofing of material has been in use for years for rain coats but up to this year has never been used for tents. People who have used 'mercerized' cloth know how it sheds water and it was the knowledge of this that caused the proprietors of Hargreaves' Big Railroad Shows to have all their tents made out of this material. It is quite a stride in advance of other shows but it is only in keeping with the progressiveness of the management of these shows. Beneath these tents spectators can sit in comfort and ease during the heaviest of rains and be as dry as if in the finest theatre in the country. This is only one of the many novelties that have been added to these shows this season.

"The Paramount Issue."

We are glad to be informed that the Independent regards the defeat of Roosevelt as the paramount issue in the present campaign. The Republican party desires nothing better than to take up the fight on this issue. Roosevelt's administration has been strong, positive, progressive and clean. He is recognized as a man of strong and positive convictions, of absolute honesty and fearlessness, and of rare sagacity and good judgment. He is a man who does things and the people like that sort of man. The influence of his administration has been steadily in the interest of peace, both within our own borders and in the international field. The people know Roosevelt; they also admire, love and trust him. They are going to elect him.

Judge Parker is a man of ability and of high and fearless integrity; his candidacy reflects credit upon the Democratic party, which is slowly but surely finding its way out of the swamps of Bryanism. The people gladly recognize the good qualities of Judge Parker, but they will not for a moment endorse the proposal to make him President in place of Roosevelt. Roosevelt, by native temperament and endowment and through many years of active experience, stands before the people as the foremost executive of his time; Parker's service and experience has been wholly as a jurist, and that not in the national field. Roosevelt stands before the people on the record of his administration; his views on all vital public questions are well known; of Parker's views on public questions nothing as yet is known except that he regards the gold standard as irrevocably established. The strength of his view on this question lies in the fact that it is an acceptance of the Republican position.

Why should the country reject Roosevelt and elect Parker?

Bad Road.

The road officer who placed the long stretch of large stone in the Portage road between the railroad and creek near Four Mile, and called it road making or who allowed it to be done ought to be compelled to walk over it barefooted and blindfolded ten times every day until he could get the idea under his hair, that to have a road in that shape is a nuisance. The idea of stone in the road is all right, but they should be put there of the proper size, in a proper manner, and have sufficient covering over them to fill up at least the worse crevices and not compel the public to drive over a road that is an injury to a horse; to those who ride over it, especially delicate women, and that shakes and rattles buggies and wagons in a terrible manner. Such a road is a disgrace not only to the man who put it into such shape but also to the community in which it is allowed to exist.

A DRIVER.

A Sluggard's Device.

There is in town a lazy old rascal who has contracted the English habit of reading in bed until slumber dims the page. The one serious drawback to this custom is the necessity of stepping out of bed to extinguish the light, and of doing this at the very time when sleep is making its most irresistible assults. A number of times has this person fallen asleep and let the gas burn all night. Now, however, he has lashed a piece of heavy wire to the thumb cock of the gas fixture, and to the other end of the wire has attached a stout thread which extends to his pillow. When ready to stop reading all he has to do is to pull the thread, and out goes the light.

Maccabee Insurance.

A Detroit dispatch states that the Supreme Tent, Knights of the Maccabees of the World, last Saturday adopted the new schedule of rates recommended by the Committee of Laws at Wednesday's session.

Whole life insurance will hereafter be furnished new members at rates ranging from 85 cents per $1,000 of insurance at the age of 18 to $2 75 at the age of 50.

Present members may re-rate themselves to the new rate for whole life protection, or may continue their insurance in force at present rates until the age of 55, after which they must pay at the rate of $3 per month.

Cholera Infantum.

Smith, Sterling Run.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

GARDNER.

SILAS GARDNER, aged about 55 years died at the home of Delbert Towner, West Creek, last week Monday, his remains being interred in Newton Cemetery on Tuesday, Rev. Sypher, pastor of Circuit M. E. Church officiating. Gardner, who has been a great sufferer with asthma, has resided in this section for many years. He did not seem to have any relatives. A novel spectacle presented itself upon this occasion—the minister, undertaker and driver all riding on the hearse. Be it said to the credit of the young clergyman, he did not wish to see the unfortunate man dumped into the Potter's Field without a christian burial and there not being a carriage in the neighborhood, he mounted the hearse and rode thereby through town to the cemetery.

A Clerical Visitor.

The Rev. William F. Rentz, pastor of the First English Lutheran Church of Pottsville, Pa., is visiting his brother, Mr. F. P. Rentz at his pleasant Fourth street home. Mr. Rentz's church is one of the most important in his denomination, having a membership of 700 with all its departments of work in active operation. He is also president of the Schuylkill County Sunday School Association and is a recognized leader in this important field of Christian effort.

Mr. Rentz and Dr. Heilman were class mates at Williamsport Dickinson Seminary and that their conversation should take a reminiscent turn is not surprising. His friends would like to hear him preach but prior engagements preclude his remaining over Sunday.

Entertainment and Festival.

On Saturday evening, August 20th, the ladies of the M. E., congregation at Howard Siding will give a high class entertainment, after which they will conduct an ice cream festival. Those taking part in the exercises of the evening are gifted with a woderful talent, and having received special instructions, the entertainment promises to be a success. While the success of the festival depend upon the people and their "pocketbooks." Do not disappoint these ladies and they will not disappoint you.

Stop! Look! and Listen!

This is no railroad sign only a notice to railroaders and everyone else to attend the festival to be held at West Creek School House, Saturday evening, August 13. Gentleman forget that this is leap year and bring your ladies. Ladies remember this is leap year and bring the gentleman. This festival will be a success if you scream, and I scream, and we all scream for ice cream.

The New Presbyterian Church.

The debris about the new Presbyterian church is being removed and the grounds put in proper order. The congregation expects to occupy its church in a week or two, though the formal consecration of the edifice will be defered till September when the Northumberland Presbytery will meet here and the event be made doubly interesting by the presence of this notable body of ministers.

The Olean Races.

The August race meeting of the Lake Erie circuit in Olean promises to eclipse everything ever held on the Driving Park. With stakes larger than those in any other town in the circuit, with the exception of Jamestown, the Olean races this year have called together a larger entry list than in former years and the list contains some of the well known flyers. The dates are August 16, 17, 18 and 19. The program is as follows: August 16—2:22 pace; 2:22 trot; 2:12 pace, August 17—2:25 pace: 2:20 trot; 2:15 trot, and free for all, August 18—2:15 pace, 2:18 pace; 2:30 trot and for all, August 19—2:30 pace; 2:18 trot and 2:25 trot.

The Big Four band of Bradford has been engaged to furnish music each day. The driving park is easy to reach, cars running to the entrance. The Olean Driving Park track is in excellent condition this year and fine sport is anticipated.

Mr. H. R. Manett has purchased a restaurant in Danville, Pa., and will shortly assume charge of the same, expecting to move his household goods the last of this week. His friends wish him and his wife success in their new venture and bespeak a friendly welcome for them from the people of Danville.

Concert August 25th.

Preparations for the musical to be given in the First Methodist Episcopal Church Thursday evening Aug. 25th, are progressing satisfactorily. A program of vocal and instrumental music by artists of well known ability gives assurance of a rare treat for all who attend. Tickets of admission are 25 cts and are in the hands of the committee.

Lucky Inventor.

Jno. A. Johnston, himself a good printer and former publisher, knowing the trials and tribulations of the country publisher, stepped into the PRESS sanctum last Saturday and renewed his subscription for another year. Mr. Johnston has perfected a valuable piece of mechanism that will no doubt place him on easy street. He deserves it, having worked long and hard. We will give a description of the machine at the right time.

Their Annual Game.

The fats and Leans played the first game of their annual championship series at Keystone Park last Saturday. The game was hotly contested as the score will show. Rentz was in the box for the fats the first inning, but captain Haupt relieved him and put in Murphy, and accuses Rentz of selling the game, there being only ten runs made in the first inning. Haupt decided to get him as far out of the game as possible, and stationed him in left field. Joe Lingle was the whole thing on second. Newton pitched a stiff game for the leans. In our opinion they all played a very fast game. The score by innings:

Fats	1	1	0	1	4	5	0	1	7	—20
Leans	1	0	3	0	3	1	0	4	0	1—22

Hargreaves' Big Railroad Shows have been aptly called the "wonder" shows as each year a myriad of novelties are produced with that aggregation that no other show can duplicate. This year the management have far surpassed all previous efforts until this vast amusement enterprise can safely lay claim to being the biggest and best Shows on the road. With a colossal circus given in two rings on an elevated stage, with a menagerie that cost over a million dollers together, with a mammoth museum in which strange people and curious things from all parts of the globe can be seen and with a real Roman Hippodrome in which contests like given in the old amphitheatre of Rome are faithfully reproduced, there is such a refreshing novelty about this stupendous aggregation that everyone who visits it becomes infatuated with it. The lists of artists engaged for the ring exhibition is as big as the entire working force with many other shows and they are all undisputed champions in their respective lines. Hargreaves' Big Railroad Shows are absolutely unique and unapproachable and if you see them when they exhibit at Emporium on August 12, you will be a hearty endorser of these statements.

When thieves fall out each has a foeman worthy of his steal.

A "battle-ax windmill" is a curious feature of the landscape in the once arid plains of the far West. When Chinese parents arrive at about the age of 55 their affectionate sons and daughters club together and give them each a coffin, and wish them many happy returns of the day. When death comes these receptacles are used for the purpose for which they were intended. Coffins are to be seen in many houses in China, some of them being utilized as wardrobes.

From the annual report of the mininster of mines of British Columbia for 1903, just issued, it appears that the total production of the mines of the province shows a very slight increase over the year previous, being of the value of $17,495,954, compared with $17,486,550 in 1902. Excepting copper and coke, which show an increase, there is a falling off in all other products.

Reduction by electricity of an aneurism or dilation of the aorta, the main artery of the body, has been attempted in nine recorded cases, but only three of the patients survived. In a recent successful attempt the galvanic current was applied to a Philadelphia man for one hour, reducing an aneurism that extended three inches above the base of the breastbone and was three and one-half inches wide.

According to a New York statistician, one of the puzzles of the matrimonial market is the preference of widowers for spinsters and the indifference of widows for bacnelors. The carefully prepared figures of this expert shows that in a given period 25,451 widowers sought to heal the breach in their domestic arrangements by espousing 25,451 spinsters, while only 8,147 widows were considered available for that purpose.

The largest watch in the world has just been made at an American watch factory and shipped to England, where it will adorn the front of the London office of the watch company. The two dials, one on either side of the watch, are each four feet in diameter.

In an article on the subject of average incomes in England and France, M. Paul Leroy Beaulieu, in a recent number of L'Economiste Francais, asserts that there are by far a greater number of extremely wealthy people in England than in France. In France there are bewteen 700 and 800 persons whose annual income from property exceeds $50,000 per annum, whereas in England there are no fewer than 2,418 persons in the same enviable position.

To telegraph 16 messages simultaneously over a single wire has now been made possible through an invention of Dr. Michael Ivorsky Pupin, professor of electro-mechanics in Columbia university. Heretofore the maintenance of four circuits on one wire has been the limit of the multiplex machines invented. The Pupin system differs chiefly from the multiplex systems now in use in that it operates with an alternating instead of a direct current.

TWO GREAT CAMPAIGN TALKS

Mr. Root's Address to Senator Fairbanks, Notifying Him of His Nomination for the Vice-Presidency, and the Nominee's Response.

Following was the address of Elihu Root, formally notifying Senator Fairbanks of his nomination, at Indianapolis:

"Senator Fairbanks: The committee which now waits upon you was appointed by the national convention of the republican party, held at Chicago in June, and its agreeable duty is to notify you of your nomination as the republican candidate for the office of vice president of the United States for the term to begin on the 4th day of March, 1905.

"We give you formal notice of that nomination with assurance of the undivided and hearty support of the great party which has executed the people's will in the government of this country for the better part of the last half century. The nomination comes to you in accordance with the best methods and practices of representative government. It was the result of long and earnest consideration and discussion by the members of the convention. It was not the chance product of an excited hour, and it was not upon the demand of any powerful influence—political or otherwise—constraining the judgment of the delegates. It was not made for the purpose of conciliating possible malcontents or of swelling the campaign fund of the party. No bargains or intrigues contributed to it. No suppressions of the truth or misleading of the convention as to your principles and opinions were necessary to bring it about. It was the deliberate, informed and intelligent judgment of the delegates from every state and territory, and it was their unanimous judgment.

Called to Great Office.

"It is a great office to which you are called. John Adams and Thomas Jefferson and George Clinton and John C. Calhoun and Martin Van Buren and many others whose names are illustrious in the history of our country have filled it. It is an office of high dignity and immediate, ever-present importance. The credit and honor of our country are greatly concerned in the character and conduct of the man who presides over the senate of the United States, of which you are already so experienced, so useful and so honored a member.

"But the vice president has other grave duties of imperative obligation. When the people elect a president under our political system, they do not merely select the man for the office; they give their approval to certain controlling principles and policies of government; and the administration of which the vice president is a part is bound to give effect to these principles and policies. The primary duty of the vice president to be always ready to take up the burdens of the presidency if occasion requires carries with it the duty to be always ready to continue unbroken the policies which the people have intrusted to the administration for execution. For the due performance of this duty the vice president should be familiar with the conduct of affairs by the administration as it proceeds, a part of its counsels, and imbued with a knowledge of its labors, its perplexities and its motives, that can come only from intimate association and confidence and sympathy.

"To often it has happened that after excited contests for the presidential nomination the candidate for vice president has been selected from the defeated faction for the purpose of appeasing their resentment, and that after election he has remained antagonistic in spirit and a stranger to the counsels of the president whom he may be called upon to succeed. Happily, we are now in no such case. The people would fain see again such relations of sympathy and loyal helpfulness for the public good as existed between President McKinley and Vice President Hobart, and the personal relations between President Roosevelt and yourself, your mutual esteem and good understanding assure us that these happy conditions will come again after the 4th day of next March. We count upon your wisdom and experience and loyal aid as an element of ever-present strength in the coming administration.

Many Presidents Die in Office.

"As to the supreme responsibility of the vice presidency in case of succession to the presidency, we shall all pray, and no one more earnestly than yourself, that it may not come to you. But we are not at liberty to ignore the possibility that it may come. Sad and bitter experience admonishes us that provision for succession to the presidency is no idle form. Of the last 12 presidents elected by the people of the United States, five—nearly one-half—have died in office and have been succeeded by vice presidents. A serious obligation rests upon the political parties which select the candidates between whom the people must choose to see to it that they nominate men for this possible succession who have the strength of body and mind and character which shall enable them, if occasion comes, to take up the burdens of the great presidential office, to endure its trying and exhausting demands, to meet its great responsibilities, and with firm hand and clear vision to guide the government of the country until the people can express their choice again.

"Our opponents of the democratic party have signally failed to perform this duty. They have nominated as their candidate for the vice presidency an excellent gentleman, who was born during the presidency of James Monroe and who before the 4th of March next will be in the eighty-second year of his age. Before the next administration is ended he will be approaching his eighty-sixth birthday.

Too Old for Office.

"It is no disparagement of this gentleman, for whom I believe we all have the highest respect, to say that he shares the common lot of mortals, and that the election of any man of such great age would furnish no safeguard to the American people against the disaster which would ensue upon the death of a president with a successor not competent to perform the duties of the presidential office. It is common experience that very aged men however bright and active they may appear for brief periods, cannot sustain long-continued severe exertion. The demands of the presidential office upon the mental and physical vitality are so great, so continuous and so exhausting as to be wholly beyond the capacity of any man of 85.

"The attempt by such a man to perform the duties of the office would with practical certainty be followed speedily by a complete breakdown both of body and of mind. In contemplating the remote possibility of the election of the democratic candidate for vice president the people of the country are bound to contemplate also as a necessary result of such an election in case of the president's death, that others, not chosen by the people, and we know not who, would govern in the name of a nominal successor unable himself to perform the constitutional duties of his office; or worse still, that serious doubt whether the vice president had not reached a condition of "inability" within the meaning of the constitution would throw the title to the office of president into dispute. The serious effect of such an event upon the government and upon the business interests and general welfare of the country, and the serious effect even of the continual menace of such an event must be apparent to every thoughtful mind.

Prepared for Any Duty.

"In your election, on the other hand, this chief requirement will be fully met. In the full strength of middle life you are prepared for the exhausting duties of the presidency. Your successful and distinguished career, the ability and probity with which you have already discharged the duties of high office, the universal respect and esteem of the people of Indiana who have delighted to honor you, the attachment of hosts of friends throughout the union all assure us that you have the character and the ability to govern wisely and strongly should you become president. Many indeed among our people have already turned toward you as a suitable candidate to be elected directly to that great office.

"It is the earnest wish of your party and of many good citizens who have no party affiliations that you shall accept this nomination and that you shall be elected in November to be the next vice president of the United States. In expressing to you this wish, we beg to add an assurance of our own personal respect, esteem and loyalty."

MR. FAIRBANK'S RESPONSE.

Praises Republican Politics and Present Administration.

Following was the speech of Senator Fairbanks accepting the nomination for the vice presidency:

"Mr. Root and Gentlemen of the Committee: I thank you for the very generous terms in which you have conveyed the official notification of my nomination for vice president of the United States. The unsolicited and unanimous nomination by the republican party is a call to duty which I am pleased to obey. I accept the commission which you bring with a profound sense of the dignity and responsibilities of the exalted position for which I have been nominated. My utmost endeavor will be to discharge in full measure the trust, if the action of the convention shall meet the approval of the American people.

"The platform adopted by the convention is an explicit and emphatic declaration of principles in entire harmony with those policies of our party which have brought great honor and prosperity to our common country, and which, if continued, will bring us like blessings in the future. The monetary and economic policies which have been so forcibly reannounced lie at the very foundation of our industrial life, and are essential to the fullest development of our national strength. They give vitality to our manufactures and commerce, and if impaired or overthrown there would inevitably ensue a period of industrial depression, to the serious injury of the vast interests of both labor and capital.

Value of Gold Standard.

"The Republican party, since it preserved the integrity of the republican and gave freedom to the oppressed, never rendered a more important service to the country than when it established the gold standard. Under it we have increased our currency supply sufficiently to meet the normal requirements of business. It is gratifying that the convention made frank and explicit declaration of the inflexible purpose of the party to maintain the gold standard. It is essential not only that the standard should be as good as the best in the world, but that the people should have the assurance that it will be so maintained.

"The enemies of sound money were powerful enough to suppress mention of the gold standard in the platform lately adopted by the democratic national convention. The leader of the democracy in two great national campaigns has declared since the adjournment of the convention that as soon as the election is over he will undertake to organize the forces within the democratic party for the next national contest, for the purpose of advancing the radical policies for which his element of the party stands. He frankly says that the money question is for the present in abeyance. In view of these palpable facts it is not the part of wisdom to abandon our vigilance in safeguarding the integrity of our monetary system. We must have not only a president who is unalterably committed to the gold standard, but both houses of congress in entire accord with him upon the subject. In congress and not with the president rests the supreme power to determine the standard of our money. Though the chief executive should oppose, congress, acting within its independent constitutional authority, could at any time overthrow or change the monetary standard.

Protective Policy Wise.

"The wisdom of our protective policy finds complete justification in the industrial development of the country. This policy has become a vital part of our industrial system, and must be maintained unimpaired. When altered conditions make changes in schedules desirable their modification can be safely intrusted to the republican party. If they are to be changed by the enemies of the system along free trade lines, uncertainty would take the place of certainty and a reaction surely would follow, to the injury of the wage-earners and all who are profitably employed. Uncertainty undermines confidence, and loss of confidence breeds confusion and distress in commercial affairs.

"The convention was wise not only in its enunciation of party policies, but in its nomination of a candidate for the presidency. During the last three years President Roosevelt has been confronted with large and serious questions. These he has met and solved with high wisdom and courage. The charges made against him in the democratic platform find an irrefutable answer in his splendid administration, never surpassed in all the history of the republic and never equaled by the party which seeks to discredit it.

Record of Deeds Done.

"The election of the president is imperatively demanded by those whose success depends upon the continuance of a safe, conservative and efficient administration of public affairs. We have an emple record of deeds done, of beneficent things accomplished in the public interest. The vast business of the government has been well administered. The laws have been enforced fearlessly and impartially. The treasury has been adequately supplied with revenue and the financial credit of the government never was better. Our foreign trade balance continues to increase our national wealth. We have adopted an irrigation policy which will build homes in the arid regions of the west. The Panama canal, the hope of centuries, is in course of construction under the sole protection of the American flag.

"We have peace and great prosperity at home and are upon terms of good neighborhood to the entire world. The conditions constitute the strongest possible assurance for the future.

"Later I shall avail myself of a favorable opportunity to submit to you, and through you to my fellow citizens, a fuller expression of my views concerning the questions now in issue. Permit me again to thank you and to express the belief that we may confidently submit our cause to the candid and patriotic judgment of our countrymen."

Marriage Brokers.

The marriage broker in Italy is a regular institution. In their offices there are books with the names and particulars of all marriageable girls, rich or poor, who live in the district, and the brokers go about endeavoring to arrange engagements in exactly the same way as they would do ordinary trading business. It depends entirely upon their success whether they receive any payment for their efforts or not.

"I guess the old girl forgot to remove her gloves when she knocked at mine," rejoined the demoralizer.—Chicago Daily News

Secret of Eau De Cologne.

When the originator of the genuine eau de cologne died, aged 80, he gave his secret to his nephew and heir. Since 1709 only ten persons have seen the recipe, which is kept in a box trebly locked.

Uncle Sam's Boys.

Uncle Sam has on his pay roll about 10,000 boys from 14 to 19 years old, who are employed as special delivery messengers. Each boy gets eight cents out of the ten cents paid the government for a special delivery stamp.

TO CHECK FAMILY ROWS.

Novel Plan of a Chicago Minister—Would Have Church Appoint Peacemakers.

"We have homes for children, orphan's anchorages, old people's homes, humane societies, and, in fact, organizations for the care of nearly all classes of society in Chicago, but we have no association whose duty it is to conserve the family, the most sacred of all institutions," said Rev. David D. De Long in a recent address before the Congregational ministers of the city.

"I think every church should establish a home-mending society, whose duty will be to act as peacemaker in all disputes in families in the vicinity of the church. If a father and mother disagree and are in imminent danger of separating, let a member of the homemending society call at the home of the family and arbitrate the dispute so as to save the family and preserve the home. If a parent cannot get along with a child and the dispute threatens the security of the home, let the society step in and offer its services in bringing about peace.

"I am going to try the plan in my church, and I think every other congregation in Chicago would do well to follow my example. I believe the plan will result in much good every year by preventing the disruption of hundreds of homes."

GRADUATES TIED TO TREES.

Ducked in Pond First—Victims Free Themselves by Burning Their Bonds.

Fifteen members of the graduating class of the Mount Vernon, N. Y., high school were kidnaped on the night after the commencement exercises by a band of hazers, composed of former graduates, and taken to the woods, where they were baptized in a pond and tied to trees.

Some of the graduates did not get back to Mount Vernon until after daylight. Two of them, after being lashed to trees for nearly two hours, struck upon a novel scheme to free themselves. They took matches from each other's pockets and burned the ropes with which they were tied.

Before the exercises began the police heard a rumor that the graduates were to be hazed, and policemen were stationed around the school building to guard against any "rough house" tactics, but the hazers foiled them.

Dyeing Eggs.

Just now the foreign egg trade of England is much exercised over the disclosures made recently by Lord Onslow, president of the British board of trade, as to the nefarious practice of certain foreigners of dyeing their eggs for the London market with coffee in order to secure the rich brown shade which it seems all Londoners prefer in their eggs. Lord Onslow advised the English egg producers to take a leaf from the book of their continental rivals and by the liberal use of coffee secure the shade which in London adds 25 cents a hundred to the value of their eggs.

THE CIPHER WAS TOO MUCH

Telegraph Operator Thought the Message Was Too Much Twisted to Save.

While Secretary Hay was in the country one summer, an important piece of official business was pending, and he arranged with Washington that any news that might arrive about the matter should be telegraphed to him in cipher.

Day after day he waited, says the New York Tribune, but no telegram came. One morning, happening to go to the lonely little telegraph office, he said to the operator:

"I suppose you have received no dispatch for me?"

"Why, yes, sir," the operator replied, "there was a dispatch for you the other day, but it was all twisted and confused. I couldn't make head or tail of it, so I didn't think it was any use to send it up to you."

CHIEF OF POLICE SAVED.

Newberry, S. C.—W. H. Harris, chief of police of Newberry, says: "I suffered for a number of years with kidney complaint. There was a dull aching across the small of my back that was worse at night and made me feel miserable all the time. The kidney secretions were dark and full of sediment, and lack of control compelled me to rise a number of times during the night. Between this annoyance and the backache it was impossible for me to get much sleep and my health was being undermined. I tried a number of remedies, but nothing helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills. The use of this remedy according to directions promptly brought about a change for the better. After using two boxes the backache all left me, the kidney secretions cleared up and the action of the kidneys became normal."

NEWS FROM WAR ARENA

GEN. KELLER KILLED.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 2.—The greatest anxiety prevails here for news of the general advance against the southern and eastern positions of Gen. Kuropatkin's army.

The report of Lieut. Gen. Count Keller's death is confirmed. He was killed July 29 while repelling the preliminary attack of Kuroki's army on the Yangze pass, 30 miles east of Liao Yang. The general was standing near a battery which was subjected to a terrific fire when a shell burst close to him. He fell, mortally wounded, dying 20 minutes later.

JAPS WIN TWO BATTLES.

Tokio, Aug. 3.—Gen. Kuroki has administered a defeat to the Russian forces which defended the Russian east flank at Liao Yang, winning separate actions at Yushulikzu and Yangze pass. These two places are 26 miles apart, but the two actions were fought at the same time. The Russians held strong positions.

At Yushulikzu the Russians had two divisions of infantry and some artillery, and they resisted the Japanese assaults vigorously.

Both attacks were begun at dawn on July 31. At Yushulikzu the Japanese carried the Russian right and left wings, but on account of the strength of the main Russian position they were unable to press the attack.

At dawn on Monday the Japanese resumed the attack and by noon they had dislodged the enemy and driven him four miles to Lacholing.

At Yangze pass also the Japanese were successful. Their artillery opened on the enemy and the infantry moved forward from Makumeza. The attack on this place was made at 1 o'clock on Sunday and by nightfall the Japanese were in possession of a majority of the Russian positions, although the enemy had resisted with determination. The Japanese forces passed the night in battle formation and another assault was made on Monday at dawn. By 8 o'clock Monday morning Yangze pass and the surrounding heights had been captured.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 3.—Gen. Kuropatkin reports that the Japanese have occupied Ikhavuen, east of Liao Yang, and the Yangze pass, 30 miles east of Liao Yang.

PORT ARTHUR ATTACKED.

Che Foo, Aug. 4.—The steamer Wuchow, which has just arrived here from New Chwang, brings further details of the latest Japanese assault on Port Arthur. When nearing Che Foo, he Wuchow picked up a junk carrying seven men, four women and one boy who left Port Arthur Tuesday. They reported that the fighting north of the city of Port Arthur occurred at Wolf Hill and was sanguinary, resulting in the repulse of the Japanese.

Tokio, Aug. 4.—The Japanese defeated the Russians at Simoucheng and drove them toward Haicheng in a sharp fight which began last Saturday and ended on Sunday. The Russians left 1,500 dead on the field and lost six guns.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 5.—Gen. Sakharoff reports that 29 officers and over a thousand men were killed or wounded in the engagements of July 30 and July 31, and that six guns were abandoned.

Tokio, Aug. 5.—The Russians began abandoning Haicheng August 2. The Japanese entered Haicheng without resistance at noon Wednesday and the Japanese occupied New Chwang the same day.

Twelve torpedo boat destroyers, four torpedo boats and some gunboats emerged from the harbor at Port Arthur on the night of August 1, but were driven back again by the Japanese warships on guard outside.

London, Aug. 5.—A dispatch to a news agency from An-Shan (half way between Haicheng and Liao Yang) says: "The Japanese advance is being continued with great energy against the southern army. The Russian main forces continue their retirement northward, but the cavalry has checked the Japanese flank movement."

KUROPATKIN HEMMED IN.

New Chwang, Aug. 5.—Gen. Kuroki with 100,000 men is now behind the Russian forces; Gen. Oku with an army of 50,000 men is on their front, while flanking them on the left is Gen. Nodzu with his division of 50,000 men.

If Gen. Kuropatkin is defeated in this battle he must either move westward or surrender.

The Russian troops at Port Arthur have been driven back to the last line of their defenses. The Japanese attacking force has 350 guns in action.

Vladivostok, Aug. 5.—The prize court has decided to confiscate such portion of the cargo of the steamer Arabia as was consigned to Japanese ports, namely, 5,900 pounds of flour and the railroad equipment.

Che Foo, Aug. 5.—Twenty-one survivors of the British steamer Hipsang, which was sunk by a Russian torpedo boat in Pigeon Bay on July 16, arrived here Thursday on board the German steamer Sulberg. Among the survivors are three Europeans.

Mukden, Aug. 6.—It is reported here that the Japanese attacked the Russian position at Anshanshan (midway between Haicheng and Liao Yang) on August 2 and were repulsed with heavy loss. The Russian casualties are not known.

Tokio, Aug. 6.—The Russians left 700 dead on the battlefield at Simoucheng, and the Japanese casualties during the same battle aggregated 800. The Japanese captured six guns at Simoucheng.

London, Aug. 6.—A dispatch to the Japanese legation from Tokio announces that Gen. Kuroki estimates the Russian casualties at the battle of Yushu pass and Yangtze pass as at least 2,000. The Japanese captured eight officers and 149 men, two field guns, many rifles, etc.

The Daily Illustrated Mirror says that two Russian cruisers have just left the Baltic Sea and are chasing a steamer which left England July 30 for Canada, carrying ammunition destined for Yokohama by way of the Canadian Pacific railway.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—The National Zeitung prints a private telegram from Tokio dated August 6 in which it is stated that there are five Japanese divisions before Port Arthur, part of them within three and a half miles of the fortress, and that there are altogether 20 Japanese divisions in Manchuria. The telegram says that Tokio is expecting the fall of Port Arthur and the capitulation of Gen. Kuropatkin on the same day.

Ex-Gov. Pattison Dies.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—Robert E. Pattison, who was twice democratic governor of Pennsylvania and twice controller of Philadelphia, died early Monday at his home in Overlook, a suburb of this city. Pneumonia, complicated with a weakness of the heart, was the cause of death. He was 53 years old. Mr. Pattison was a candidate for governor on the democratic ticket against Gov. Pennypacker in 1902 and had not been a well man since his laborious campaign in that year, when his tour of seven weeks covered every county in the state.

Union Miners are Enjoined.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 2.—Joseph Leiter's coal company yesterday obtained an injunction from Judge Humphrey in the federal court prohibiting union miners from picketing or patrolling the premises of the company at Ziegler, Ill.; from entering upon the property, from interfering with men who wish to work, from threatening or persuading men to quit work, from interfering with or entering trains or cars going to and from Zeigler. The restraining order is temporary and the case is set for hearing September 15 in this city.

Parker Resigns as Judge.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Judge Parker's resignation as chief judge of the court of appeals was filed with the secretary of state yesterday. This will enable the issuance of the necessary orders to bring about the election of a successor to Chief Judge Parker this fall for the full term of 14 years instead of an appointment by the governor for one year if the resignation had been delayed until after August 10.

The Democratic Change of Base.

In our article two weeks ago we wrested the language of the Independent from its intended meaning. Our satirical construction upon the Independent's phrase was abundantly justified by the record of the Independent and of the Pennsylvania Democracy. There has been no change of principle because there has been no real principle to change. The flop of the Pennsylvania Democracy in 1896 upon the money question is unparalled in the annals of state or national politics. The Independent and its editor fully participated in this flop.

We may remark in passing that this criticism upon the political attitude and record of the editor of the Independent is very far from being the same thing as an attack upon his personal and private character. We trust that the Independent will bear this distinction in mind.

Waiving our satirical construction, and considering in all due seriousness the assurance that the Democratic change of base involves no change of principle, let us ask what this assurance means or is worth.

What does it mean from the standpoint of Mr. Cleveland and Judge Parker? Does Mr. Cleveland declare that the Democratic change of base involves no change of principle? We should like to know the comments of the Independent upon Mr. Cleveland's article in "Collier's Weekly." Mr. Cleveland regards the acceptance of Judge Parker's telegram as a revolution, as a radical renunciation of wrong monetary principles. In Mr. Cleveland's eyes Judge Parker is a Moses who has safely led the Democratic hosts out of the Egypt of monetary heresy and through the Red Sea of Bryanism, and Mr. Cleveland himself is now playing the part of Aaron in sounding "the timbrel o'er Egypt's dark sea." We should not care to be in any one's place who would venture to declare in Mr. Cleveland's presence that the Democratic change of base involves no change of principle.

What does this assertion mean from the point of view of Mr. Bryan? We certainly concede that Mr. Bryan would much more readily endorse the assertion than would Judge Parker or Mr. Cleveland. He is still the unyielding champion of the free silver cause and did all that he could at St. Louis to prevent the party from declaring for the gold standard. He withstood to the last the proposition to accept Judge Parker's telegram, averring at the time that this telegram would tie the party up to the gold standard more hopelessly than the rejected gold plank would have done. According to his utterances at St. Louis and his manifesto issued a few days later, Mr. Bryan was far from regarding the Democratic change of base as involving no change of principle. Rather he was disposed to regard it as involving a most lamentable change of principle. Now, however, he is disposed to miminize the matter as much as possible in order to strengthen in himself the hope that the Democratic party may one day return to his leadership. He is now treating the action of the convention in accepting Judge Parker's telegram as a mere episode, unfortunate, indeed, but still as a mere episode. It is to his interest to foster the impression that the change of base on the money question is not to be taken very seriously, and that therefore the change of principle is not very serious or radical. We were not aware last week that we were conveying to any one the impression that Mr. Bryan has refused to support Messrs. Parker and Davis, but we did say and do say that he is not shouting for the gold standard. He deplores the acceptance of Judge Parker's position, but seeks to miminize its significance. He finds reasons for supporting the ticket, notwithstanding Judge Parker's telegram.

Mr. Cleveland magnifies the significance of Judge Parker's telegram and supports the ticket because of the partys radical return from heretical to sound money principles. Mr. Bryan belittles the significance of the Parker telegram, and finds reasons for supporting the ticket notwithstanding it. It is left for the East Emporium Independent to rejoice with Mr. Cleveland over the acceptance of Judge Parker's gold standard telegram, and to agree with Mr. Bryan's latest tendencey to assert that the party has not seriously changed its principles.

This chaotic attitude of the Independent upon the money question is really characteristic of the Democratic party taken as a whole. And to such a party the country will not entrust the custody and maintenance of the gold standard.

BRYAN'S VIEW OF PLATFORM.

"I shall not mis,represent the situation, or appeal for votes for the ticket upon false grounds. A democratic victory will mean very little if any, progress on economic questions so long as the party is under the control of the Wall Street element. * * * The labor plank as prepared by Judge Parker's friends on the subcommittee was a straddling, meaningless plank, * * * The nomination of Judge Parker virtually nullifies the anti-trust plank."—William Jennings Bryan, in "The Commoner," July 13, 1904.

Discovery Concerning Rheumatism.

It is now known positively that rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. The only possible way to get this poison away is to get this poison out of the blood is to treat the kidneys, as when they are diseased or not acting properly, the uric acid passes from the kidneys into the blood. Thompson's Barosma or Kidney Cure acts quickly, taking up the uric acid, curing the kidneys and restoring them to their normal functions. Thompson's Barosma is pleasant to take. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

UNDERTAKING

The Salvation of Dennison

By HERBERT ELLS

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

DENNISON staggered down onto the street, his head whirling, his cheeks hot, his heart faint. He glanced toward the cool water in the river with a sigh almost wistful.

Why not end it all anyway. Was the fight worth the candle? It was ten years since he had enjoyed any rational pleasure. Day and night, night and day of unending and relentless worry and strain—that had been the history of a decade. Of course, he had played for big stakes with little or no capital to start on. But he had not been altogether unsuccessful. He had jumped from goal to goal with marvelous rapidity. No sooner had one point been achieved than the proceeds, moral as well as physical, had been staked on a further achievement. The world looked upon him as a marvelously successful young man, but the world did not behold the precipice over which he perennially hung.

It seemed now that the end certainly must come. A slip here—not his fault—a disaster in a distant state, a tightening of the money market—all things impossible to foresee, and he was pushed hard against the wall. It was not so much the thought of losing all he had gained in a financial way. He felt he had the strength and courage to begin over and he knew he could make a better living than he had ever had time to take. It was not that. It was the bitter thought of failure, the sneers and criticism of the men on the street—that was what he shrank from.

He gritted his teeth as he often had done before in supreme moments. It was not all over yet. He had yet time to make a turn before Wednesday week, when he must face his banker, his principal creditors and the men who had backed him in his enterprise. And he had a card or two left to play. He walked on unheeding place or time, his eyes set and introspective, his face drawn and haggard. His poor, tired, forced brain was trying its best to heed the lash he applied.

Then a strange phenomena occurred. Coming out of his trance for a moment he looked straight into the flashing, jet-black eyes of a rollicking, saucy schoolgirl, who was regarding him mischievously. The eyes were full of life, intelligence, vitality and were were framed by the daintiest oval face, the dainty red on the olive skin telling of perfect health. Dennison had been so absorbed in his thoughts that he had not been conscious of his surroundings and consequently when he looked up was bearing down directly upon the girl. She had noted his absorption and had planned, mischievously, to give him a little shock. But he had looked up just in time and found himself looking into those splendid black eyes. A strange thrill went through him. The physical effect of the face he saw and especially the eyes, was most definite and powerful. For an instant he was paralyzed, then sheered rapidly to the right to avoid a collision. But, alas for the best laid plans, the girl had planned all along to dodge him on that same side, so the result was disastrous. He succeeded in preventing a head-end collision, but brushed so violently against her that he knocked her books from her hand and scraped her watch from the bosom of her dress where it was pinned.

"A thousand pardons," he exclaimed, flushing deeply. "There is really no excuse for a man walking down a public street in a trance. I am an idiot. Pray forgive me."

She stood demurely watching him struggle with loose leaves and scattered papers and all the debris to be found in a school book, while he sputtered away at himself. Then he found that the watch was broken and had stopped and insisted on taking it to a nearby jeweler to ascertain the extent of the damage. It was found to be slight, and while the jeweler was repairing it he remained and talked to the girl. His business cares had rolled from him and he found his brain engaged in new and delightful problems. How was he to further his acquaintance with the girl; how prevent the episode to end his contact with those brilliant eyes.

The watch being repaired, he insisted on walking with her, carrying her books.

"Is it quite proper, sir?" she asked.

"Indeed it is," he replied, earnestly. Then he went on desperately telling her his name and business—a name he knew was well known throughout the city. She accepted the situation with the careless abandon of the schoolgirl. Her feminine intuition told her that he was a gentleman and his blundering earnestness amused her. She saw, too, that her charms had impressed him, which she could not help but like, being a woman.

He learned that she was from a small town in the west and was staying with an uncle in the city in order to enjoy the advantages of the city schools; he also judged that the uncle was somewhat of a crank and that the girl was afraid of him. He learned also that her name was Hattie. Arriving at the corner nearest her home she dismissed him positively.

"Auntie would have a fit if she saw me walking with a strange man," she said.

Then he asked if he might call, and she said: "Oh, dear, no."

"What, am I to see you no more?" he exclaimed in alarm.

"I don't see how you can very well and be proper," she replied with a suppressed giggle, behind her gravity

"But," she added demurely. "There is a carnival at St. Mark's church this evening, where I am to have a booth. I don't suppose I could prevent your coming."

She went along home and he turned and watched her jaunty step and noted the lithe figure, half girlish, half womanish, and the flame of a great desire leaped into his heart. He walked down the street toward his hotel, whistling like a schoolboy. His business anxieties seemed a thousand miles away. He realized that he needed every ounce of brain and energy he had to meet the business crisis which he faced. He stopped whistling and frowned. What was he doing—a man of his age and experience, and in his predicament spending valuable hours walking about the street with a schoolgirl? And what business had he to be giving time and thought to anything else but his tangled affairs. He set forth decisively to apply himself to the great problem confronting him.

After all his brain seemed clearer and his heart certainly beat stronger for the incident. And the girl—ah, wasn't she a beauty. He thrilled again at thought of her black eyes. She had said to-night at St. Mark's. Yes, he would be there. He wondered a bit about his clothes. He had not inspected his wardrobe for some months, having had no time for social diversions. So his mind bounded back from the business problem and remained glued to the olive, oval face and the ruby lips and the flashing orbs of Hattie Menard.

Presently he found himself in his room arraying himself, and later walked into the carnival at St. Mark's. He knew many people there, but had eyes only for one. He saw her presently, costumed as a gypsy, in the fortune-teller's booth. Straightway he went there and greeted her as an old friend. Of course he had his palm read. The contact of her little hand drove him into ecstacies he had never known. He sought to prolong the conversation and invited her to the ice cream booth.

"You must remember, sir," she said, with downcast eyes, "that we have never been formally introduced.

"Oh, that's it, is it?" he replied and straightway sought her uncle, Hiram Stone, whom he knew slightly. Adroit management brought the two back to the vicinity of the fortuneteller's. Hattie greeted her uncle and he introduced her perfunctorially to Dennison, adding:

"Niece of mine I'm putting through the schools. Harrum-scarrum sort of a girl, but I've got to do it on account of Rachel. What were you saying about N. P.?

But N. P. was not in Dennison's mind and he shook Stone abruptly.

Later he asked Hattie if he might call, and received permission, of which he availed himself on the following evening, much to Stone's bewilderment. On the following afternoon he met her with a buggy as she left school and took her riding. Saturday he took her to the golf links and Sunday afternoon for a long ride. By this time he was making the most ardent love to her. He spent only enough time at his office to read the mail and give a few directions. On that Sunday ride he threw discretion to the winds and begged her to become his wife. After some teasing, she accepted him and it was agreed, inasmuch as Uncle Hiram might interpose objections and delay matters, to slip quietly away Monday morning and be married in a neighboring town. After a honeymoon of two days they returned and occupied apartments at Dennison's hotel and he went briskly to his office to meet his banker, his creditors and his backers. He did not drag his feet, as he did when he walked out discouraged and forlorn the week before. He walked briskly and confidently and it was noticeable that his eyes sparkled and the crow's feet were gone.

"Well, I guess you've raised the money, Dennison," said the banker, smiling.

"Not at all," replied Dennison, seating himself confidently. "The fact is I haven't tried. In fact I haven't had time. I've been too busy getting married.

"Married!" exclaimed the party in unison.

"Oh, yes," replied Dennison. "And congratulate me, gentlemen. I have found the sweetest girl in the world. You see I was fool enough to think that credit and business and work and success was all there is to life. I've learned differently. There's something else and I've found it."

"But about the business?' gasped the banker.

"Well, I've been thinking about that a bit coming down this morning. It looks to me just this way. Here is the business. You know the condition. We're making money and if you will leave me alone I'll pull out and there'll be profits galore in a few months. If you force me now, I'll have to let it go to smash and we'll all lose together. It's up to you. I'll do the best I can and no man will lose a cent through me. But I have got through worrying about it. I have learned that there's another side to life and I like that side. I'd rather be a clerk on a salary and know that side than the president and owner of your blamed old bank and not know it. I am in your hands, gentlemen."

Of course there was but one thing to do, and Dennison pulled the business through all right and they all made money.

And Dennison never worried about business any more. He had found an antidote for business care in a pair of flashing black eyes.

DROWNED IN THE MISSISSIPPI.

BATHING PARTY OF EIGHT MET DEATH AT ALTON, ILL.

Children In the Water Struggled and Screamed, Fighting Desperately to Reach a Sand Bar—Only One Saved.

Alton, Ill., Aug. 6.—While bathing in the Mississippi river last night, Michael Riley, his daughter and six of the latter's little girl friends were drowned. One child who was in the party was rescued.

Riley lived near the river in the southern part of the city and was accustomed to bathe on the beach in front of his home after his return from work.

Last night his little daughter begged to go with him and Riley took her and seven of her girl friends to the beach with him. When they entered the water Riley bade the children join hands and they all waded into the river and walked along a sand bar which stretched out into the stream at that point.

They had gone some distance from the shore when suddenly the whole party disappeared beneath the water, having in the darkness stepped from the sand bar into the deep channel.

The children struggled and screamed, fighting desperately to reach the sand bar, where the water was only a foot or so in depth. Riley, who is said to have been a good swimmer, is thought to have been made helpless by the girls clinging to him and hampering his efforts to save them.

The only one in the party to regain the sand bar was Mary Timiny, 8 years old. The child is unable to tell how she saved herself.

SITUATION IS CRITICAL.

Our Government May Have to Send Warships to Constantinople.

Washington, Aug. 6. — Minister Leishman has notified the state department from Constantinople that he has failed to receive the expected satisfactory reply from the sultan touching the rights of American citizens in Turkey.

At Friday's meeting of the cabinet the situation was regarded as sufficiently grave to warrant some change in the program that had been formed for the movement of the United States naval vessels in the Mediterranean. While it was not decided to stop the home coming of the fleet of big battleships due at Gibraltar in a day or two, the determination was reached to have Admiral Jewell, commanding the European squadron, which has separated from the battleship squadron and is now at Ville Franche, remain in that vicinity until further orders, or at least not to come further westward while the negotiations are pending.

Ran Into an Open Switch.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 6.—An express train on the West Jersey & Seashore railroad ran into an open switch at Woodbury yesterday and was totally wrecked. The train consisted of a locomotive, parlor car, baggage car and three day coaches. The engine was demolished and all the cars except the parlor car were overturned. The train was well filled and the passengers were shaken up and bruised. Richard Douty, the engineer, was badly scalded and sustained a broken rib.

The Grand Republic Re-inspection.

New York, Aug. 6.—A re-inspection of the steamboat Grand Republic, a sister boat to the sunken General Slocum, owned by the Knickerbocker Steamboat Co., was made Friday by United States inspectors and after a thorough examination the steamer was passed, although owing to the small number of good life preservers on board her carrying capacity was reduced from 2,000 to 1,250, no additional life preservers to replace those condemned being now available.

A Double Murder.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6. — Joseph Shearer and his wife Elizabeth, who were married about a month ago, were shot and killed by Harry Fisher, aged 30 years, the woman's brother, in their home Friday. Fisher also shot himself and died at a hospital. The motive for the crime is said to have been robbery. Mr. and Mrs. Shearer had $1,000 in the house with which they had intended to purchase a home. The money was stolen. Fisher admitted his guilt.

The Grand Circuit Races.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Buffalo closed its most successful grand circuit meeting in years with another good crowd and sharp racing at Kenilworth park Friday. Before the first heat of the 2:10 pace Ben F. sold as favorite over the field and won. The 2:14 pace was a good contest and Snow had his hands full getting Black Hal home. Baron Grattan, the Chamber of Commerce winner at Detroit, was defeated.

A New Railway Project.

Pittsburg, Aug. 6.—Official announcement was made yesterday that engineers for the Lake Erie & Pittsburg Railroad Co. have just completed the surveys for a new road from Youngstown to Pittsburg which will be opened for business by this time next year.

Operators Would Let Gray Decide.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 6.—At the meeting of the anthracite board of conciliation held Friday at the request of the miners, the operators presented a plan for the settlement of the check weighmen and check docking boss questions, which have caused trouble. The operators ask that the controversy be submitted to Judge Gray, chairman of the anthracite coal strike commission, his decision to be final. The miners asked for time to consider the proposition and action was deferred until the next meeting of the board, to be held here August 12.

MARVELOUS CURES EFFECTED.

Home of a Scotch Miner Near Glasgow the Mecca of Halt and Maimed —His Surgery Causes Surprise.

London has been recently flooded with highly colored reports of marvelous cures effected by William Rae, a Scotch miner, living at Blantyre, a little village near Glasgow.

Special correspondents have written columns telling how the halt were cured and the deformed made straight by an old man whose medical knowledge was limited to a few notions of anatomy obtained by a cursory study of a handbook. Some of them went so far as to suggest that Rae's power was superhuman. His cottage, it is said, presented a remarkable sight daily. Crowds of people, some on crutches, others hobbling along with walking sticks, but all filled with hope of being cured, besieged the former miner, who is devoting 12 hours a day to treating his patients.

One instance of Rae's methods was given by a highly veracious correspondent as follows:

"The patient was a little boy who could not walk here. Said Rae: 'This is a case of a dislocated hip; the doctors call it disease, but it is not.' He made the boy lie down; then suddenly seizing the limb he gave it a jerk. There was a sharp crack, a sharper cry from the boy, and before the latter's mother, who was present, could recover from her astonishment, her child was walking about the room delightedly waving his discarded weighted boot in the air."

Another case termed typical was described as that of a girl who was a hunchback. In this instance the mother was not permitted to be with the child, but a quarter of an hour later the child came out of the cottage "straight as a die" and sobbed out her happiness on her mother's shoulder.

There were dozens of stories such as these detailed at length in the London newspapers. Photographs of Rae have been published, showing him to be a somewhat uncouth-looking man, with a badly trimmed beard and heavy features. His fee never varies. To all alike he charges half a guinea.

From every part of England and Scotland, if one is to believe the accounts one reads, people have traveled to seek Rae's assistance and pay their half-guineas. Still, Rae is not wealthy, although it appears he has been carrying on his "bloodless surgery" for years.

Rae's doctrine appears to be that bone disease is an invention of the doctors. To him conclusive proof of this is that neither he nor anyone else has ever seen a diseased bone in a living person.

The secret of spinal curvature and every other condition causing deformity or lameness is contained in the single word "Bluid," for Rae's Scotch accent is one of his special charms.

"Where that's wrang," says this pathological oracle, "a' the rest's wrang."

The British Medical Journal, commenting on the affair, says there is nothing of this wondrous talk of the collier surgeon that will surprise those who know how little education has done to dissipate the clouds of ignorance and credulity which darken the public mind. The really interesting point to know would be how so foolish a thing was made a subject of a successful boom.

BUNCH TOGETHER.

Coffee Has a Curious Way of Finally Attacking Some Organ.

Ails that come from coffee are cumulative, that is, unless the coffee is taken away new troubles are continually appearing and the old ones get worse.

"To begin with," says a Kansan, "I was a slave to coffee just as thousands of others to-day; thought I could not live without drinking strong coffee every morning for breakfast and I had sick headaches that kept me in bed several days every month. Could hardly keep my food on my stomach, but would vomit as long as I could throw anything up and when I could get hot coffee to stay on my stomach I thought I was better.

"Well, two years ago this spring I was that sick with rheumatism I could not use my right arm to do anything, had heart trouble, was nervous. My nerves were all unstrung and my finger nails and tips were blue as if I had a chill all the time, and my face and hands yellow as a pumpkin. My doctor said it was heart disease and rheumatism and my neighbors said I had Bright's Disease and was going to die.

"Well, I did not know what on earth was the matter and every morning would drag myself out of bed and go to breakfast, not to eat anything, but to force down some more coffee. Then in a little while I would be so nervous, my heart would beat like everything.

"Finally one morning I told my husband I believed coffee was the cause of this trouble and that I thought I would try Postum, which I had seen advertised. He said 'All right,' so we got Postum, and although I did not like it at first I got right down to business and made it according to directions, then it was fine and the whole family got to using it, and I tell you it has worked wonders for me. Thanks to Postum in place of the poison, coffee, I now enjoy good health, have not been in bed with sick headache for two years, although I had it for 30 years before I began Postum and my nerves are now strong and I have no trouble from my heart or from the rheumatism.

"I consider Postum a necessary article of food on my table. My friends who come here and taste my Postum say it is delicious." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE BUTCHERS' GREAT STRIKE

PACKERS DECLARE IT TO BE PRACTICALLY ENDED.

A Police Station in Chicago Stoned by Rioters—A Boycott on Ice Is Ordered — Exciting Run on a Chicago Bank.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Monday was a busy day with the packers. With increased forces of skilled workers and their operating departments more thoroughly equipped than at any time since the beginning of the strike, the employers took a firm grip on the machinery of their affairs and as a result the stock yards took on the old hum of activity to a great extent.

Rioters stoned the Deering street police station late last night and for a quarter of an hour the police battled with the crowd of 2,000 men and women, as it charged the station with sticks and stones, shouting vengeance against the police.

Stones and bricks by the hundred were hurled at the building, and all the windows in the place were broken. Charge after charge was made by the police and the rioters were driven back only by the strenuous use of clubs.

Kansas City, Aug. 2.—Monday's developments in the butchers' strike were serious from the standpoint of the strikers, as hundreds of strikers returned to work, many of them being skilled workmen.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—The meat packers whose union employes are on strike claim to be in a better position now than at any time since the struggle began. When asked for the packers' side of the situation last night Arthur Meeker, general manager for Armour & Co., said:

"The strike may be said to be near an end. At the rate we are securing new employes it will be only a short time until everything will be in normal condition with us. The old employes' places have been filled so promptly that very few of the strikers will ever be able to get back their old places and those who do will come back as individuals."

Chicago, Aug. 4.—The threatened spread of the stock yards strike to outside industries came last night, when an order was issued by the Teamsters' union prohibiting drivers of ice wagons from making any deliveries to retail merchants who since the packing house teamsters went on strike have been hauling meat from the yards in their own wagons.

While admitting that the packers are doing considerable business, the strike leaders declare that the employers are losing money on every animal that is slaughtered, as the unskilled workers waste all the by-products. It is on this waste that the strikers base their hopes for final success, arguing that it is only a matter of time until the employers will become tired of losing money and eventually make overtures to the unions for a settlement.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 4.—More union men deserted the ranks of the strikers yesterday and returned to their old jobs at the packing plants. This number is said by the packers to be 150.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—In a statement given out last night by the packers, the report that negotiations are in progress to bring about another conference between the packers and the labor leaders, is declared to be entirely unfounded. According to this statement the progress being made at the plants is satisfactory to all the packers; more men are being employed daily; all contracts and current orders are being made at lower prices than before the strike commenced. In a table accompanying the statement it is shown that the total number of men at work at all points is more than 29,000.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—The strike in the packing houses was practically lost sight of yesterday in the excitement attending a run on the Drovers' Trust and Savings bank, one of the stock yards institutions. The rush of the depositors to the bank started early in the day because of an unfounded rumor that one of the packers' representatives had withdrawn his money from the institution and reports that the bank was being used by the packing companies as an adjunct in paying off employes who have taken the places of the strikers.

All day long hundreds of depositors, most of whom had only small accounts in the bank, stood in line to withdraw their deposits. When closing time came there were at least a thousand persons waiting for their money. The officials of the bank determined to meet the emergency, called in extra tellers and the place was kept open until every depositor who presented himself at the window had been satisfied.

"We have plenty of money to meet any kind of a run," said Vice President Tilden, after the bank had been closed for the night. "We have over $200,000 in our vaults and besides the $200,000 taken from the down town banks, have received offers of assistance from the First National Bank of Chicago, the National Park bank, of New York, and the Standard Trust bank, of New York. None of these offers will be accepted, as we have on hand all the money we need."

Is Put on a War Footing.

Zeigler, Ill., Aug. 4.—An engine hauling one baggage car and two coaches, carrying 40 Pittsburg miners to take the place of strikers arrived yesterday, escorted by 20 armed guards. The train was backed into Joseph Leiter's stockade and unloaded without interference. One of the guards was shot through the head while leaving the car by the accidental discharge of his weapon. Leiter accompanied the men. Rapid fire guns were in position and guards centered in the inclosure, all outposts being watched by deputy sheriffs.

HE COULDN'T "RECOVER."

His Wife Thought He Was a Goner and Accordingly Disposed of His Clothing.

A young clergyman in making his weekly visits among the poor of his parish in a near-by country village quite recently learned of a poor, sick man who recently came from Ireland with his wife and one child. When the minister called at the house, relates the Philadelphia Press, he was given a most hearty welcome, and on reaching the bedside of the sick man was surprised at finding him apparently well. The day being warm the clergyman suggested that he get out of bed and spend an hour under a shade tree in the garden.

"It may do you good," he added.

The wife, who was present, said her husband had better remain in the house until the following day and then take a little recreation. When the clergyman returned a week later he found the husband still in bed.

"Haven't you been out of bed since I was here?" asked the man of the cloak.

"No, sir, he has not," replied his wife. "I don't like to tell you, sir, but the doctor gave my husband up a week ago and we sold his clothes. That's the reason he didn't go to the garden."

Arriving at a Verdict.

Kushequa, Pa., Aug. 1.—(Special)—In this section of Pennsylvania there is a growing belief that for such Kidney Diseases as Rheumatism and Lame Back there is only one sure cure, and that is Dodd's Kidney Pills. This belief grows from such cases as that of Mrs. M. L. Davison, of this place. She tells the story herself as follows:—

"I have suffered from Rheumatism for thirty years and find that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I was also bothered with Lame Back, and I can only say that my back hasn't bothered me since I took Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Considering that Mrs. Davison only took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the result would be considered wonderful if it were not that others are reporting similar results daily. Kushequa is fast arriving at a verdict that "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the one sure cure for Rheumatism."

Good Enough Scotchman.

Andrew Carnegie told this story lately: A Scotchman and an Englishman went to see "Douglas," and after Norval's great speech the Scotchman asked his companion: "What do ye think of your Willie Shakespeare noo?"

"Well," was the answer, "you have claimed Chaucer, Milton, Spencer, Wordsworth, Byron and most of the others; I suppose you'll be claiming Shakespeare as Scotch."

"Well," said the Scot, "ye'll allow there's a prima facie case for that; ye'll allow he had intellect enough!"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Judge a man by the clothes his wife wears.—Chicago Tribune.

Women who work, whether in the house, store, office or factory, very rarely have the ability to stand the strain. The case of Miss Frankie Orser, of Boston, Mass., is interesting to all women, and adds further proof that woman's great friend in need is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered misery for several years. My back ached and I had bearing down pains, and frequent headaches. I would often wake from a restful sleep in such pain and misery that it would be hours before I could close my eyes again. I dreaded the long nights and weary days. I could do no work. I consulted different physicians hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicines did not cure me, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was highly recomended to me. I am glad that I did so, for I soon found that it was the medicine for my case. Very soon I was rid of every ache and pain and restored to perfect health. I feel splendid, have a fine appetite, and have gained in weight a lot."—MISS FRANKIE ORSER, 14 Warrenton St., Boston, Mass.

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, sick and discouraged, and exhausted with each day's work. Some derangement of the feminine organs is reponsible for this exhaustion, following any kind of work or effort. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as it has thousands of other women.

The case of Mrs. Lennox, which follows, proves this.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Last winter I broke down suddenly and had to seek the advice of a doctor. I felt sore all over, with a pounding in my head, and a dizziness which I had never experienced before. I had a miserable appetite, nothing tasted good, and gradually my health broke down completely. The doctor said I had female weakness, but, although I took his medicine faithfully, I found no relief.

"After two months I decided to try what a change would do for me, and as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was strongly recommended to me I decided to try it. Within three days I felt better, my appetite returned, and I could sleep. In another week I was able to sit up part of the day, and in ten days more I was well. My strength had returned, I gained fourteen pounds, and felt better and stronger than I had for years. I gratefully acknowledge its merits. Very sincerely yours, MRS. BERT E. LENNOX, 120 East 4th St., Dixon, Ill."

Womanly Health, Strength and Beauty

Strength and beauty in woman depend entirely upon her health. A woman cannot look her best if suffering from one or more of the many ailments peculiar to her sex. These ailments invariably cause, sooner or later, the loss of her symmetry of form and freshness of complexion.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA

Herb Tea

Makes Strong and Beautiful Women.

It is a most pleasant and effective remedy for the troubles which cause so much suffering among women the world over. It relieves immediately and eventually cures all cases of disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, chronic constipation, sick head ache, nervousness and sleeplessness. These are the ailments which deprive a woman of her youth and beauty and make her old before her time. The use of the Herb Tea will enable her to retain these qualities. It clears the complexion and improves the form. A cupful at bed time will give a woman health and strength.

Chicago, April 19, 1903.

Hamlins Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.:

Gentlemen:—My wife had been suffering with female weakness and extreme nervousness which latter the physician who has been attending her for a long time attributed to her being unable to sleep. After tossing about all night she would invariably rise in the morning with a terrible headache. The doctor seemed to be able to do nothing for her and she was constantly getting worse. She decided to try your Herb Tea and drank a cupful before retiring. In the morning she arose after a good night's rest and without a headache for the first time in months. She has continued taking it during the past three months and has forgotten what a sleepless night means. She is feeling splendid and every one remarks how well she is looking. Her complexion is as clear as a young girl's and her figure has improved wonderfully. Yours truly,

N. R. TAYLOR,

A Continual Strain.

Many men and women are constantly subjected to what they commonly term "a continual strain" because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils ot constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, low vitality and dispondency. They cannot, as a rule, get ride of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health-destroying effects by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventnally dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Taken With Cramps.

Wm. Kirmse, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport was taken suddenly ill Thursday night with cramps and a kind of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The incident speaks quite highly of Mr. Gifford's medicines.—Elkador, Iown, Argus.

This remedy never fails. Keep it in your home, it may save life. For sale by L. Taggart.
